The Train Robber Expected Here To. Day Over the Cheespeake and Obto Road, Still on His Invalld Cot.

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 18 .- Special .-After working, watching and waiting diligently for three months the Virginia authorities at noon to-day departed for their State, having in custody Charles Morganfield, the Aquia Creek train rob ber. Morganfield's case has been a sucression of sensational and dramatic incidents. From the time of his advent, three months ago, when he was found on the city's outskirts lying along the railroad track suffering from a broken leg, until his departure to-day, the police have had the most troublesome and desperate prisoner on their hands that has ever been confined here.

The Circuit Court made short work of Morganfield's case this morning. At 10:31 they announced their decision, which sustained Judge Wilson.

THE PRISONER DEMANDED

The Prisoner Demander.

The Virginia authorities then hurried to Judge Wilson and in the name of the Commonwealth of Virginia demanded the body of Charles Morganield, allas Morgan. The demand was speedily granted. Rushing to the jail the papers were presented for the custody of Morganield. It was then II:30, and the Virginians wanted to leave with Morganield on the noon train. They knew that Morganield's attorney, Thomas Shay, who had made a desperate fight for him, was employing every means known to law, to prevent the train robber's removal. A DASK FOR THE TRAIN.

Morganfield was ordered to prepare himself for the trip to Virginia at office. It was unexpected, and the prisoner turned pale and pleaded sickness. He was forced on a cot, carried to the jail entrance, and a passing furniture car halled. Into the car he was dumped, and the horses were soon on a gallop for the depot. They arrived two minutes ahead of time, and at 12:01 the Chesapeake and Ohio eastern flyer crossed the Ohio river with train robber Morganfield aboard lying on an invalid cot in a sleeper.

It was by the testimony of the captured natives that the officials were able to discover the instigators of the insurrection. Soon a net of conviction was woven about prominent royalists in town, and by Monday noon a list of some forty of the leading agitators had been made out. Monday afternoon Norrie, F. J. Testa, A. P. Peterson, H. F. Poor, Harry Von Werthern, H. F. Redward, Henry DeFries, J. F. Bolwer, James K. Kaulia, Hell Kapu, Alex. Smith, Charles Clark, Margarie and Isagawa had been put under arrest. yond the marine railway, from the steamer Waimanalo, was undoubtedly made on the 3d instant. It was frustrated by th vigilance of the police, but a second attempt was successful. On the even us of Sunday, 6th, as many as 600 rifles were landed between Waialac and Diamond Head, nearly six miles from town. Some 500 natives were collected there, and received guns and ammunition. The Wai-manalo (Captain Davis) landed rifles in whale boats. He brought them from beyond Waialac, where they had been landed from the schooner Norma, from Victoria, if our information is correct. The natives were under the command of Bob Wilcox and Sam. Nowlin. They captured and detained everybody who discovered them, and cut the telephone wires so that no information could reach the city until night. Charles Carter was in the first party that showed fight to the rebels on Sunday, night. The greatest surprise of the event was the fact that Wilcox had a field piece. It has not been captured, but a haul was made of 120 carbines, 60 cartridge belts, filled, and 500 additional rounds, and 25 dynamite handgrenades, of foreign make.

Young Carter died on Monday morning. The effect of Carter's death at the outset was salutary in creating unusual ardor and detained everybody who discovered was salutary in creating unusual ardor among the loyal citizens to crush the enemy. Large numbers of doubtful per-sons eagerly came forward to shoulder guns for the Government. Hundreds have offered their services as special policemen and otherwise. The volunteer troops are nearly up to their full strength of 300, and have done good work for the four days in the field and on guard duty. Over 500 men of the civic guard, many of them elderly, have kept the town thoroughly patrolled for four nights, and no person has passed an important street corner at night without being halted and seru-tinized. It has been impossible for any insurgents to get through the town and give aid to the enemy from this side. Including regulars, police, volunteer troops, special police, sharpshooters, citizen guard and other volunteers, the total number of men carrying arms for the Government is not less than 1,200, all eager for active service and patiently working as ordered. The number offering service has been so large that all cap-tured carbines have been issued to arm them. These are Winchester repeating carbines of good modern make. Among those offering service have been more than 100 natives. The native policemen have shown themselves extremely brave and capable. Judge Widemann's son, Carl, was with the rebels. Among the latter were also a number of white men from British Columbia.

The Japanese au-thorities here went out and made them return. It would have been a severe tax task to handle these 300 mutineers with all the other trouble. Yet the Government feels it very undesirable to be thus put under obligations to the Japanese officials, as it helps them in unpleasant demands which they are inclined to make. Yesterday word came of a violent mutiny of 200 Japanese on the plantation at Walmea, Kauai. They left an American for dead on the field. The grievance of the Ewa Japanese was that the police had raided a nest of gamblers among them. The 20,000 Japanese in Hawaii are deeply excited by the victories over China, and feel very important and superior. No doubt the late rumors of insurrection also acted as an additional ferment, making them ready for an outbreak at the Yesterday word came of a violent mutiny also acted as an additional ferment, making them ready for an outbreak at the slightest provocation. Mr. Watson, who was elected sheriff of Robeson on the Democratic ticket last November, has resigned, and Mr. Alford, of Maxton, has been appointed by the commissioners to fill the vacancy.

Your correspondent stated that Major Grant, of Wayne, had introduced in the Senate a bill to repeal the act of 1883 pensioning the old Confederate soldiers. There was quite a severe criticism of Major Grant on account of this bill. It is now your correspondent's pleasure to correct this error, which was made by the Senate reporter. The bill Major Grant introduced was "to repeal section 8, of chapter 198, of said laws," which barred soldiers holding property to the amount of $500 from the benefits of the act.

This reorganized Republican party will be "straightouts," and will wage a bitter war on the Fusionists.

Now the Fusionists are carrying things with a high hand. They will abolish offices held by Democrats, will recreate them under a different name and fill them with Populists and Republicans. Town and county government systems and the election law will go to the wall under this Legislature.

ATTACKED BY MASKI'D MEN.

A most dastardly robbery was committed in Union county on Monday night, when an old couple living twelve miles in the country were relieved of $3,000 in cash. Masked men went to the house and made them open the safe in which the money was kept.

A well-known Republican boss says the Republican party submit to be bossed by Butler until the county government and election laws are changed. Then the Republicans will have the whip hand, and will swallow up the Populists. This will explain why they have submitted to so much humiliation at the hands of the Populists.

There was quite a fight yesterday over the reduction of the bond of the sheriff of Pitt county from $52,000 to $60,000, but not withstanding the hard fight made by the Democrats against such a reduction, the bill passed.

GENERAL EARLE SUES MA. ASTON He Wants $500,000 for Being Ousted From the Hotel New Netherland, NEW YORK, Jan. 18 .- A few days before the sailing of William Waldorf Astor on the White Star liner Teutonic on Wednesday, he was served, through his attorneys. Peabody, Baker & Peabody, with the summons in a suit to be brought against him in the Supreme Court by Lily J. wife of Ferdinand P. Earle, former lessee of the Hotel New Netherland, at Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street. The complaint in the sunt has not yet been drawn up, but the damage sued for, according to Mr. Earle, will be in the neighborhool of £00,000. The suit arises from the ejectment proceedings taken by Mr. Astor against Mr. Earle a year ago, and there will also be a claim for services rendered.

Mr. Earle has had the suit in contemplation ever since he was put out of the hotel, but its preparation was hastened by the coming of Mr. Astor to this country, with the body, of his wife. As Mr. on the White Star liner Teutonic on Astor has taken up his residence in England, services of the summons would have been made necessarily by publication, and Mr. Earle preferred that it should be acknowledged by Mr. Astor in person. Out of consideration for Mr. Astor's affliction a letter was sent to his attorneys asking if personal service would be acknowledged through them. Upon their answering that it would the summons was served.

When Mr. Earle was spoken to regarding the suit last night he said:

"The suit is to be brought by my wife, because to her I have assigned all my business interests. I don't know yet whether there is to be a single suit, or several, but the amount sued for will be about $50,000. When the New Netherland was in contemplation I was solicited by Mr. Astor to manage the hotel after it should be built, and to superintend its construction, decoration, and furnishing. I did that, and for three years I devoted aimost all my time to overseeing the work. It took three of the best years of my life, rulned my health, and for it I received nothing. A part of my claim will be compensation for that work.

"The hotel was to be turned over to me as lessee in the fall of 1892, thereby giving me the advantage of a long winter season before the dull trade of the summer came on. The hotel was not finished at the time agreed upon, nor was it ready until June of the following year. Then I signed a lease for twenty years, but I signed it under protest, feeling that some concession should be made to me for the lost time. That summer, as I had expected, business was poor, and it was absolutely impossible to make running expenses and pay the large monthly rental. Still, without the slightest consideration for me. Mr. Astor brought the ejectment proceedings, and I was put out of the house. The ejectment was the beginning of the troubles that have come upon me. I have no redress except a suit in a court of law, and that's the reason I am bringing one."

Mr. Earle's attorneys are Dittenhoefer, Gerber & James, of 96 Broadway, ExJudge Dittenhoper

The minor events on the programme proved to be the most satisfactory, how-ever. Ryan was in first-class condition and showed it plainly. It was equally apparent that the reverse was true of Dempsey. Dempsey was twelve minutes behind Ryan in entering the ring.

In the first round Dempsey acted like a drunken man, and many of the spectators were so disgusted that they left the building.

In round two Dempsey made such a miserable showing that the crowd yelled. "He's drunk; take him off." "Shame! Shame! Take him off." Just before the call of time Ryan knocked Dempsey down with a left on the jaw and laughed at him. at him. In round three Ryan had Dempsey at

In round three Ryan had Dempsey at his mercy and simply played with him, hitting him when and where he pleased, while the crowd yelled at the top of their voices, "Stop it! stop it!" till Hurst stopped the bout at the request of the club, owing to Dempsey's unfit condition, and the battle was awarded to Ryan.

tion, and the battle was awarded to Ryan.

The time of the round was only two minutes and five seconds.

Ryan was so far superior to Dempsey that he could have knocked him out at any moment he chose to do, even in the first round. Dempsey was very drunk when he came upon the stage, and it was at the requist of his own friends that the club had the fight stopped. It is said that Dempsey has been drinking hard ever since he came here from New Orleans, and was drinking hard all day to-day, and did not seem to care anything about his battle with Ryan or realize its importance. It certainly is Dempsey's downfall, and many of his admirers left the building with heavy hearts.

SHERMAN TO THE RESCUE. Full Text of the Financial Bill Prepared by the Obio Seuster. WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 18 .- Following is the full text of the financial bill introduced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Sherman:

Senator Sherman:
"Be it enacted by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That to enable the Secretary of the Treasury to provide for and maintain the redemption of United States notes according to the provisions of the act approved January 14, 1875, entitled "An act to provide for the resumption of specie payments," and also to enable him to pay current deficiencies in the revenue, he is authorized, from time to time, at his discretion to issue sell, and discoverhis discretion, to issue, sell, and dispose of, at not less than par in coin, either of the description of bonds authorized in said act, of coupon or registered bonds of the United States, to an amount sufficient of the united States cient for the objects herein stated, not exceeding the current deficiency of reveexceeding the current deficiency of revenue, bearing not to exceed 3 per cent, interest per annum payable semi-annually, and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States in coin after five years from their date, with like qualities, privileges and exemptions provided in said act for the bonds therein authorized. And the Secretary of the Treasury shall use, the proceeds thereof for the purposes herein provided for and none other.

"Section 2. That in lieu of any of the bonds described in the first section of this bonds described in the first section of this act, the Secretary is hereby authorized, at his discretion, to issue certificates of indebtedness of the United States, payaindebtedness of the United States, paya-ble to the bearer after five years from date, at the pleasure of the United States, of the denomination 25, 50 and 100 dollars, with annual coupons for interest at the rate of 3 per cent. per annum; and to self and dispose of the same for not less than an equal amount of lawful money of the United States at designated de-positaries of the United States, and at such post-office as he may select. And such certificates shall have the like qualities, privileges and exemptions described in said resumption act for the bonds therein authorized. And the proceeds thereof shall be used for the purposes prescribed in the first section of this prescribed in the first section of this act, and for none other.

"Section 3. That upon any deposit already or hereafter made in the manner required by law of any United States bonds or certificates bearing interest, any national banking association making the same shall be entitled to receive from the comptroller of the Currency circulating notes of different denominations, in blank, registered and countersigned as provided by law, not exceeding in the whole amount the par value of the bonds deposited; provided, that at no time shall deposited; provided, that at no time shall the total amount of such notes issued to any such association exceed the amount at such time actually paid in of its capi-tal stock."

President Cleveland would be only to glad to sign the Sherman bill, or some bill like it which would provide for the pressing needs of the Treasury; and will doubtless hope that it may be sent to him, and advises Democrats to that effect. The Democrats might possibly be gotten into line on some such proposition as a ment that it was simply a choice between different kinds of bond issues, since a bond issue is apparently inevitable; but this argument would have no weight with the silver Republicans.

Nevertheless, the administration and the Democratic leaders in Congress are very reluctant to believe that there mus be an extra session, for they realize that the Republicans will probably meet the needs of the Treasury, just as they are saying now the should be met, by an increase of taxation; and that might put the President and the Democratic party in an embarrassing position. If Congress adjourns, therefore, on the 4th of March without having relieved the Treasury, the President will have to choose between continuing to issue bonds under disadvantageous conditions and having to put up with a possible increase of tariff duties by the Republicans at an extra session. He may, therefore, deter-mine that he will not call an extra ses-sion, but will take the chances, especially of the expected increase in receipts from the tariff and income tax laws, and worry along till December. It seems more likely however, that he will call the extra se
